a cinch for the men today and at 11 o'clock the town of Encinitas came in view and was passed through. The camp was established just on the outskirts of the town, but a few hundred yards from the ocean. By noon the shelter tents were up and the men fell in for a hot midday meal, something that will not come often during the hike, as a cold lunch, eaten en route, is planned for most of the days. Visitors swarmed the camp and the hospitality of the Encinitas people was made evident a few moments later when scores of them invited the artillerymen to enjoy home cooked meals with them tonight and be their guests at their homes. The soldiers were not backward in accepting a chance to get their feet under a table containing the things which reminded them of home. During the afternoon it was announced that bathing would be allowed for an hour after investigation showed that the beach was entirely safe. A shout went up from the camp as the men tossed aside their work of putting the finishing touches on the camp and made for the shore with a rush. Several experienced swimmers were selected from the ranks and ordered to stand guard in case of emergency. In a few minutes more than 600 men were in the water and forgetting training and grim war. The U. S. people were not given the opportunity of watching the bathing party, as suits were decidedly scarce and a string of guards turned them back.

Major A. T. ## TOUCHING SCENES ON MEMORIAL DAY

Four American Chaplains, One French and a Salvation Army Man in Charge.

TRIBUTE TO FRANCE

Aged Men, Women and Children Decorate Graves With Touching Reverence.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Thursday, May 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—In the Memorial day exercises in the rear of the American sector in Picardy a small American flag and flowers were placed on each grave of an American soldier. The ceremony was in charge of four American chaplains and one French chaplain, assisted by the Salvation Army representatives.

Lincoln's Gettysburg speech was read, after which the band played religious and patriotic anthems, and prayers were said in English and French. Chaplain Thomas Dickson of the American army paid tribute to France for her noble aid to America during the American revolution and drew lessons for the present from the lives of Washington, Lafayette and Rochambeau.

Aged People Pay Homage.
It was most touching to see old women, old men and children from the nearby villages standing near the American graves with flowers in their hands. Tears were in many eyes as Chaplain Dickson spoke.

"The living would speak to the dead and by placing flowers on their graves tell them that their sacrifice has not been in vain," he said. "The flowers are the testimony of our eternal gratitude."

The Rev. Father A. Catoux, the French chaplain, paid tribute to the dead American soldiers and to the valor and heroism of France. He said that the mothers, fathers, sisters, wives of the American dead may rest assured that the French will always care for the graves of their heroes.

Little Cemetery Covered With Flowers
The French civilians then advanced and placed their floral tributes on the graves. The little cemetery was literally covered with flowers.

The touch of war was not missing and then just at the close of the service, American anti-aircraft guns began to fire on German aircraft hidden behind the clouds.

A touching picture was added to the ceremony when a horse belonging to one of the American officers killed at Cantigny was led to the grave of his dead master where he remained until the ceremony was over.

VALIANT WORK OF STEAMERS

Merchant Vessels Often Unsuccessfully Attacked by the German Submarines.

LONDON, April 30.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—In the weekly return showing the number of British merchant vessels attacked by submarines occurs the phrase "British merchant vessels unsuccessfully attacked."

During the month from March 15 to April 15 of this year, 64 British vessels were attacked unsuccessfully by U-boats.

The submarine which attacks a defensively armed merchantman has no longer a "sure thing." During the past month there were several cases in which the steamer completely turned the tables on the German, and sent him to the bottom instead.

Even sailing ships frequently give a good account of themselves against the submarine, although in the nature of things they are much less easy to maneuver than a ship with steam power. The following is one such case reported to the admiralty.

"A sailing ship was proceeding leisurely on her course when the lookout sighted a submarine on the starboard quarter. She lay quiet until the U-boat came within range, and then opened fire. The gun crew knew their business, for they soon found the target, and out of thirteen shots, eight direct hits were scored. The U-boat, which had been vainly twisting and turning to get out of range, suddenly went down by the bows, and her stern stood clear of the water for nearly half a minute. Then she dived perpendicularly, and came up again at an angle of 30 degrees above the water. For a short space of time she remained in this position, and then disappeared like a stone."

Early one afternoon the captain of a steamer in ballast saw the track of a torpedo coming direct for his ship. By a quick swing he succeeded in avoiding it. Then the U-boat came out of the water and opened fire, one of his shells piercing the deck and wrecking the second cook's cabin. The steamer replied valiantly and the encounter continued for four hours, the steamer going at top speed all the time and keeping the submarine dead astern. A shot from the steamer struck the submarine amidships but failed to do sufficient injury to force the German to discontinue the action. But after four hours, the steamer got the submarine into a smoke cloud, and a shell appeared to burst close to the U-boat's bow, after which the enemy quit the chase.

In another attack, which was successfully beaten off, the merchantman's gunners were handicapped owing to the deck giving away under the gun early in the action. Every time the gun kicked the platform under it jumped. The man who was sighting it was injured, but the crew continued firing and eventually forced the submarine to discontinue the action. One of the first shots from the submarine broke the wireless aerials of the steamer, but the wireless operator repaired the damage under fire and got a message through to the nearest British destroyers.

A Breakdown Would Be a Calamity

Excerpt from the Annual Report of the Hon. John Skelton Williams, Comptroller of the Currency, to the Congress:

"MAINTENANCE OF EFFICIENCY AND CREDIT OF PUBLIC UTILITY COMPANIES ESSENTIAL"

"National and State Banks, and many thousands of small and large investors, have suffered seriously from the decline of the earning capacity of public utility corporations and the consequent shrinkage in the value of their securities, representing investments of many hundred millions of dollars. These losses naturally diminish the power and disposition of the public to respond to the calls of the Government for money for war. This danger should arouse, I venture to suggest, the anxiety and stimulate the efforts of the Congress and of every patriotic citizen. A more urgent and pressing peril is forced upon our attention by the obvious fact that we are dependent so largely on the efficiency and strength of these corporations and on our railroads for speed and success in preparing for and prosecuting the war."

"The work of war has thrown upon many of these corporations strains which they are unable to endure without prompt help. The costs of their labor and of all material for operation, betterment, and upkeep have increased heavily and suddenly."

"THE CONTINUED AND INCREASING EFFICIENCY OF THESE CORPORATIONS IS IMPORTANT FOR THE SUCCESSFUL CONDUCT OF THE WAR. THIS EFFICIENCY IS NOT POSSIBLE WITH PRESENT CONDITIONS. Corporations proved by their own figures to be approaching bankruptcy cannot obtain money for improvements or maintenance. On the other hand, banks and citizens suffering severe losses from investments in the securities of these entirely legitimate and once promising enterprises will be discouraged from lending money to the Government or deprived of the means to lend."

"The first and most direct relief to the public utilities corporations can be given by the state public utilities commissions and municipal and local authorities, with the broad-minded co-operation of the people generally, understanding the necessities of war and realizing that the more promptly its burdens are accepted the sooner they will be lifted. IT IS ESSENTIAL THAT FORBEARANCE AND CONSIDERATION BE EXERCISED BY THE STATE COMMISSIONS AND MUNICIPAL AUTHORITIES, AND THAT THE CORPORATIONS ALSO BE PERMITTED TO MAKE SUCH ADDITIONS TO THEIR CHARGES FOR SERVICE AS WILL KEEP IN THEM THE BREATH OF SOLVENCY, PROTECT THEIR OWNERS AGAINST LOSS, AND GIVE THEM A BASIS OF CREDIT ON WHICH THEY MAY OBTAIN THE FUNDS WITH WHICH TO MEET THE STRAIN PUT ON THEM BY THE GOVERNMENT'S NEEDS. THE BREAKING DOWN OF THESE CORPORATIONS WOULD BE A NATIONAL CALAMITY."

The strain of war upon the Telephone Company has become so intense that relief through increased revenues is absolutely imperative.

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS CAMPAIGN NOW ON AGAIN

The campaign in Weber county and Ogden City to raise $848,650 as this district's apportionment of war savings stamps, will be started again next week with redoubled and determined energy, according to Frank M. Driggs, chairman of the executive committee. Mr. Driggs declared plans had been formed to launch the campaign again and push it through to a successful conclusion. The other members of the war savings stamp committee are Charles H. Barton, Ralph E. Bristol, Gus Wright, James E. ...

George D. Bennett of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company is president of the local war savings stamps society and much assistance is expected from this body during the campaign. Dr. E. P. Mills, Leroy Buchmiller and John Culley will assist Mr. Bennett. This committee is organizing a war savings stamp society in all of the business houses of the city.

At a conference last night, between Chairman Driggs and J. W. Collins, state chairman of the war savings stamp committee, plans for the drive were discussed. One of the suggestions made by Mr. Collins was that when the local Liberty bond purchasers cut their coupons next month, they use the proceeds to invest in savings stamps. Mr. Collins gave the following statement regarding the campaign.

"The war savings campaign is now being launched and is to be completed before June 28 by pledges, these pledges to be redeemed throughout the year, it being the intent as near as possible to divide the amounts throughout the year. It is allotted to each county of the state according to the government census for July 1, 1917, based on $20 per capita of population. It is the same in Utah as every state of the union. As this amount covers every man, woman, child, Indian, enemy alien, inmate of infirmaries, penitentiaries, poor farms, etc., as well as many people who it is impossible to reach, you will appreciate that the $20 per capita figure is a blind one. "It means that everyone must buy more of these than they did Liberty loans and even then we would be short on our allotment, inasmuch as $1000 is the limit any one person or corporation may hold, although different men."

U-BOATS OPERATE IN SOUTH ATLANTIC

AN ATLANTIC PORT, May 30.—Recent reports that German submarines have been lurking in southern waters off the American coast were given support today with the arrival here of a Brazilian steamship. The passengers said that on Saturday last, when the ship was entering the Gulf stream off the Florida coast, a wireless warning to look out for submarines was received, and that the captain immediately changed his course and made a very wide detour before heading again for this port.

Sir Leslie Probyn, one of the passengers, former British governor general of the Barbadoes, who is on his way to take the new post of governor general of Jamaica, said that before leaving the Barbadoes he had heard that a German submarine had been sighted on May 16 near Bermuda. One of the effects was made by a British ...

Rich and Poor Alike.
It is intended for rich and poor young and old. Unless everyone participates it would be impossible to get the allotment. The first Liberty only reached 2 per cent of the population in Utah; the second reached 1 per cent of the people, and the third Liberty loan reached only 17 per cent of the people, if the war savings stamp would be purchased by 33 per cent of the population it would then mean each buyer would have to average each, multiplied by the number of members in his family would give idea of what each one is to do. Every, each district is allotted a certain amount by the district chairman, some are able to buy in larger quantities than others. Utah has never yet in going over the top in every district she has done and I am sure this will not be the first time and no county this state will allow any black to be placed against her for failing to raise this allotment.

"It is estimated that while stamps pay interest at 4 per cent compounded quarterly, which is equivalent to 4 1/4 per cent, that the buying power of the money saved will be worth 50 per cent more when the stamps become due than the same amount of money will buy today, as it is reasonable that while at the present time everything is so high that when the war is over goods will be cheaper and hence every dollar saved today will be worth a dollar and a half five years from now."
